FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Old and New Production Houses Reunite for US$10M 3D Live-Action Sci-Fi Feature

Hong Kong – 26 March 2009 – Today it was announced at Filmart that Ricky K. K. Wong, veteran of the Hong Kong film industry, and CEO of Hong Kong-based Cine-Century Entertainment, has signed on as Co-Producer for the new US$10 million budget, fully 3D, live-action sci-fi epic FUTURE FIGHTERS to be shot in Hong Kong during summer 2010 and released worldwide the following year. Cine-Century Entertainment employee Cliff Chan also joins as Associate Producer as well as Co-Scriptwriter. Being billed as "a relationship-charged, action-packed, mecha feast", this is one movie which both sci-fi and anime fans will particularly enjoy when it hits 3D cinema screens around the world in 2011.

Both Ricky Wong and Cliff Chan can be contacted through Cine-Century Entertainment at cinecentury@hotmail.com or (+852) 2345 2983. The official movie website for FUTURE FIGHTERS is <http://www.FutureFightersMovie.com>, and is being produced by Hong Kong-based company Agog Films Productions (<http://www.AgogFilms.com>).

This is Cine-Century Entertainment's second collaboration with movie producer Guy Orlebar and his production house Agog Films, the first being the award-winning indie drama LOST IN LOVE (<http://www.LostInLoveMovie.com>), which is coming out on DVD in Fall 2009. Ricky Wong recounts: "Ah-Guy first came to us back in early 2007. He had recently graduated from film school and was eagerly pitching his first movie idea. For the Hong Kong film industry to continue to grow and evolve in order to survive, I strongly believe that, like any creative industry, it's important to nurture new talent and welcome fresh blood and ideas from outside the industry. We gave Guy and his newly-formed company the opportunity to prove themselves with their first project, which they did. And now we're very excited about partnering with Agog Films again on something much bigger and bolder." Regarding Cliff Chan's involvement, Orlebar explains *"In the same way that super hero movies have taken Hollywood by storm these past few years, what we're attempting to do with FUTURE FIGHTERS is expand the giant-robot genre which is so mainstream and well-established in Japanese anime and manga, but which, until Spielberg's Transformers came along, was largely neglected by Hollywood. Both Cliff and I share an immense love of all things sci-fi and anime, so it's great to find someone with as much passion and enthusiasm for this project as myself. I'm confident Cliff's involvement will ensure we don't disappoint mecha fans everywhere with our final offering."*

Originally called Cine-Century Company, Cine-Century Entertainment has been active in Hong Kong since 1989 and is best known for its innumerable fast-action kung fu and police/triad movies starring and helping to launch the careers of many distinguished actors including KILL BILL's Gordon Liu and SEVEN SWORDS's Michael Wong. Ricky Wong is also a committee member of Hong Kong's Movie Producers & Distributors Association, as well as examiner on the Fund Vetting Committee of the Hong Kong Film Development Council. Cliff Chan devotes his professional time between Hong Kong and America.

Founded in 2007, Agog Films Productions is one of Hong Kong's newest and most dynamic film production houses, specializing in quality independent movie-making with the freshest global talents, as well as in related comic and video-game development.
