FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New UK Talent sound out Hollywood with Movie World Premiere in LA

Los Angeles, California, USA – 21st July 2008 – The fabulous sounds of upcoming musical artists, London-based eclectic Tuan Mac and England's electronic dance group Rollermecca can be heard throughout the new international co-production, the independent movie LOST IN LOVE, premiering in Los Angeles this month.

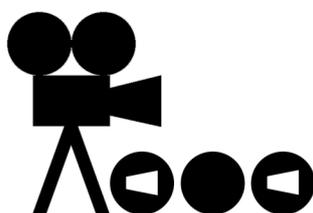

As part of this year's LA/NY Bi-Coastal Film Festival, LOST IN LOVE is heading the program in LA on 21st July at Laemmle Sunset 5, 8000 Sunset Blvd., West Hollywood, 90046 (Tel. 323-848-3500). The official movie website is at <http://www.LostInLoveMovie.com> and the official Film Festival homepage is at <http://www.nyfilmvideo.com>. Interviews with the musicians or stars and crew of the movie, can be requested through the Director/Producer Guy Orlebar at his details above. Links for Rollermecca and Ms Mac are available on the movie's website.

Besides providing the poignant opening and closing title credit songs, model-turned-musician, Ms Mac also stars within the film as a cabaret club singer performing four more of her soulful tracks. Rollermecca, comprised of composer Ben Geeves and vocalist Katie Chapman, along with providing three of their pulsating dance singles, composed the entire movie's seminal score.

LOST IN LOVE is Guy Orlebar's highly autobiographical directorial debut, concerning a young Englishman who must travel to Hong Kong, where East meets West, to search for his love and the true meaning of life. Starring also Hong Kong kung fu master Gordon Liu (KILL BILL), and additional music from the Chinese rock duo Purple Nine and cameo from a core member of Asia's number one rock band Beyond, this is a love story of truly international proportions. How far would you go for love?
