HK Filmmaker Promotes City and Local Talent in LA World Premiere

Los Angeles, California, USA – 21st July 2008 – Move over Batman! This month, the hip, new English-language indie love flick, LOST IN LOVE, shot entirely on location in Hong Kong and featuring both renown and upcoming Hong Kong stars and musical talent, premieres in Hollywood.

As part of this year's LA/NY Bi-Coastal Film Festival, LOST IN LOVE is heading the program in LA on 21st July at Laemmle Sunset 5, 8000 Sunset Blvd., West Hollywood, 90046 (Tel. 323-848-3500). The official movie website is at <http://www.LostInLoveMovie.com> and the official Film Festival homepage is at <http://www.nyfilmvideo.com>. Interviews with the musicians or stars and crew of the movie, can be requested through the Director/Producer Guy Orlebar at his details above.

Starring kung fu master, Gordon Liu (Kill Bill), and model-cum-actress Sarika Choy (Infernal Affairs Trilogy, Rob-B-Hood) with music from rock duo Purple Nine and a special guest appearance from rock legend Yip Sai Wing of Asia's number one rock band Beyond, LOST IN LOVE introduces to the West an entirely distinct set of Hong Kong's much-loved talent. In addition, Hong Kong-based filmmaker Guy Orlebar's artistry captures glorious, never-before-seen night-time aerial shots of the city and poignant shots at Lantau's Giant Buddha taken in the midst of a typhoon, with other scenes encompassing also Lan Kwai Fong, Mong Kok and Victoria Peak, to show an exclusively fresh new side of the city of Hong Kong to the Western audience.

LOST IN LOVE is Guy Orlebar's highly autobiographical directorial debut, concerning a young Englishman who must travel to Hong Kong, where East meets West, to search for his love and the true meaning of life. Starring also leading actors from the UK and Japan and additional overseas musical talent, this is a love story of truly international proportions.

How far would you go for love?
